1300 WILL VOTE TUESDAY

Incidentally Speaking . .

Agitation for a student government association with power vested in a Student Council is gaining momentum on the campus. Heading the tentative committee of fact finders are Johnny Cox and Chris Parrs who, during the past summer, attended the National Student Association Constitutional Convention in Madison, Wisconsin. The knowledge gained there concerning student organization procedures and customs will soon be incorporated into temporary constitutional draft to be placed before the administration and students alike for their approval.

As all students, day and night, dorm and commuters, will be represented on the proposed council and will come under the regulations approved by the council each and every student should be vitally interested in this attempt to bring such an organization on to the campus. Information concerning committee meetings can be obtained through Mr. Brewer.

All those who had the opportunity to see "The Valiant" Oct. 14 came away very much impressed with the fine performance staged by Campus Productions. I wonder if Wallace Tannenbaum, the criminal, knows just how many of our fair co-eds were seen "dropping tears" over him.

Barn Doors Swing Wide On Oct. 31 For SPA Dance

The barn doors will swing open wide on Friday night, Oct. 31, at the Long Hill Grange when the Sigma Phi Alpha fraternity boys will put on their first official knock 'em down drag 'em out hoe down of the fall social season.

Featuring both modern and square dances, the Barn Dance promises to be one of the "musts" of the college calendar. The music will be supplied by Gene Klein and his slightly sensational quintet, including a caller direct from the Ozark Mountain country.

Dungarees will be the uniform of the day for the men, while suitable apparel for the Promenade, Bunny Hug and a Buck and Wing will be worn by the ladies.

The admission will set the lads back $1.50 per couple, tax included, with the price of admission insuring all comers a sip of cider and a handful of fresh doughnuts.

The Grange is situated on Hickory Street in Long Hill and can be reached with facility by car, bus, or Hudson Tube.

Information as to the sale of the tickets will be posted on the bulletin board so keep posted and avoid the rush.

'Operation Crossroad' Here Today

"Operation Crossroad," a 25 minute technical movie of the atomic bomb operations at Bikini last year will be shown in the Little Theater today at 12:30 (fifth period) and 3:20 p.m. (eighth period). It is sponsored by the Naval Reserve at the college in cooperation with the Navy Department.

The University of Bridgeport, its faculty and staff, its students, all will have a part in the Community Chest program which gets underway in Bridgeport Oct. 27. The President's Student Advisory council is laying the plans for the campus campaign, so that EVERYONE may do his share, each to determine what his share is. "Let's try to make the University 100% this year," said Chris Parrs, junior, committee member.

Theta Sigma Approved As Fraternity On Univ. Campus

Fraternities at the University of Bridgeport moved forward another step this week with announcement of approval of Theta Sigma Fraternity by the college administration and the Board of Trustees.

Preliminary organization of the group as a men's social fraternity was undertaken last spring. Theta Sigma is non-sectarian, in keeping with fundamental principles of the college, and aims to further scholastic ideals, promote good fellowship, and aid the college as a whole.

Officers elected for 1947-48 are: John Cox, 46 Beardsley Street, Bridgeport, president, and Robert Donaldson, 100 Lorraine Street, Stratford, vice president. Mr. John Sherry of the Department of Mathematics - Physics is adviser.

Night Profs Are Experts

Evening students at the University of Bridgeport have as instructors in a number of subjects professional men who are currently active in the field which they are teaching, leaders in industrial design, production control and architecture.

A few of the "professional" faculty are Mr. James Scott (traffic and transportation), Mr. Raymond Woll (freshman mathematics), Mr. Albert Eckstrom (production control), Mr. H. C. Geppinger (motion analysis), and Mr. Milton Greenhalgh (chemistry), of General Electric company; Mr. Theodore Johnson (fundamentals of ophthalmic dispensing) and Mr. Ellis Godsey (business mathematics) of Remington Arms company; Mr. Francis Hannon (tool design), of Dictaphone corporation; and Mr. John Shuk (engineering drawing) of Jenkins Brothers.

President's Reception Tomorrow Heads Calendar

The President's Reception and Dance to be held Saturday evening from eight to twelve o'clock in the ballroom of the Stratfield Hotel promises to be the largest social event in the history of the University. With President and Mrs. James H. Halsey, Vice-President and Mrs. Henry W. Littlefield, and the entire faculty acting as hosts, the affair is planned to give the entire day and evening student body a chance to meet the entire faculty, an opportunity to get together for a real all-college affair, and an opportunity to meet the faculty in an informal atmosphere.

Students' wives, husbands, sweethearts, and friends are also cordially invited.

Members of the President's Student Advisory Council will form a committee to assist with arrangements and with the receiving line. This phase of the evening's program is scheduled to begin at nine o'clock.

The affair will be strictly informal, according to members of the PSAC. The event does not necessitate escorts or dates; all are welcome. Refreshments will be served throughout the evening. A 12-piece organization under the direction of Bill Ratzenberger will furnish music for the occasion.

Student Elections Come To Climax

With more than twenty-five students running for various class officers, it is expected that approximately 1,300 students will cast ballots for favorite candidates in the Klein Memorial, Tuesday, Oct. 28.

Climax to a very active campaign week will be a series of short platform speeches from the Klein stage immediately preceding the voting.

The election assembly will be held during the fourth period and reports circulating around the campus indicate that the candidates' two-minute speeches will take the chill off the early fall air and will be a proper ending for the election campaign.

To facilitate the actual balloting, the election committee has arranged a seating plan for the student gathering: freshmen in the center, juniors on the extreme right side, and sophomores on the left. The student election committee explained that if this plan is carried out, tabulating of the ballots will be expedited.

Running for president and vice-president and who will deliver two-minute speeches are the following: juniors, president — Tom McCabe, Matthew Morris, and Chris Parrs; vice-president—Doug Towle; sophomores, president—Phil Curley, John J. Cox, Joe Blafore, and Julian Short; vice-president—Fred De Giacomo, Albert A. Pastirick, Robert A. Donaldson, and William M. Manfredi; freshmen, president—Frank J. Perry and Neill Horton; vice-president—Ben Snow, Elaine Robertson, Jean Coury, and Olly Shepard.

Other class officer candidates are John Saccone, Phyllis Delson, Tom R. Smith, Margaret Kriva, Mary Lou Carroll, Marjorie Young, Winthrop D. Baker, Edward J. Morrison, Bettie Brackett, Rosa Rocamato, Marie Vozzo, Norma Kelly, Ken Medley, Donald Mills, and Rose Miller.

Any Potential Rhodes Scholars Around?

Veterans get a break in the new Rhodes Scholarships. If you are a veteran and not over 32 years of age, you need only one year of college to qualify. Marriage is no bar.

Now veterans must not be over 24, be unmarried, have two years of college. The scholarships now equal about $2,500 a year at Oxford. Examinations will be held in December.

Sherman Cautions Vets To Re-Study G.I. Provisions

Student veterans were cautioned today by Mr. A. J. Sherman, Bridgeport University's director of veterans affairs, to study their "G.I. Bill of Rights," because, he said, a number of veterans now attending day or night classes are apparently unaware of a possible monetary and cultural loss to themselves and to their families through lack of familiarity with the bill.

Mr. Sherman mentioned three particular phases of the bill with which veterans were either inadequately informed, or of which they were totally unaware.

"It is the responsibility of the veteran student," Mr. Sherman said, "to notify the evening division or the University veterans office in case of withdrawal from any class, or the decision to temporarily or permanently discontinue study." He added that such action is considered misconduct, and could jeopardize future educational rights under the G.I. Bill.

Mr. Sherman went on to say that many veterans are eligible for a subsistence allowance during schooling, but have not taken advantage of this benefit because of unfamiliarity with the requirements. To be eligible, a veteran must be taking three or more semester hours of study, and his or her earnings must be not more than (Continued on Page 2)

Hypnosis Requires Care, Says Wolff In Class

During one of his classes, Mr. Alfred R. Wolff, instructor in psychology, told students about a psycho case he handled while in the service.

It seems he had a patient who suffered from severe headaches. The previous day Mr. Wolff had witnessed the doctor cure a similar case using hypnosis. Being an accomplished hypnotist, Mr. Wolff cured the soldier of his headaches in the same manner.

While Mr. Wolff was praising himself for his good work, the doctor came over to him and admonished him for his method of healing aches and pains. It seemed that the soldier was found wandering through the hospital in a state of amnesia.

The patient was re-cured by the doctor who re-hypnotized the soldier and cured his headaches another way.

Volunteers are needed for work in connection with the Community Chest Drive which opens Mon., Oct. 27. Those having suggestions or time to offer for University sponsored collections are waged to contact Mr. Brewer.

Letters to the Editor will be accepted by the Scribe provided the correct name and student address of the writer is included. Names may be omitted in print, if requested, but they must be on the letters, as unsigned letters go into the wastebasket, following normal journalistic procedure. Letters and suggestions of all kinds can be left in our mail box in the switchboard room.

"Long skirts are immoral" asserts a Washington, D. C., clergyman, "when you consider how many freezing European children could be clothed by those extra inches."

Incidentally we know of at least one girl who had to change into "something natural" or play solitaire one recent Saturday evening. Yes, the male is still boss.

With the addition of 1,000 new reference books to the college library, the number of books available for student use was raised well over the 12,500 mark.

The Le Circle Francais is being reorganized. There will be a meeting of Le Circle Francais this Wednesday in room 14, South Hall, at 6:45.

"Love and Marriage" will be the subject of a lecture given by Dr. James F. Bender Nov. 3, at 7:30 P. M. in The Klein.

A "Baby Sitting" organization is being planned by Irene Couillard of Marina Hall. Students who are interested and who have regular hours available for such work should sign up in the student personnel office.

Mystery on our hands: the victim—snack bar utensils; the culprit—ourselves. If we go into the snack bar at any hour of the day or evening sessions, we will see Mom, maintenance men, and others moving between the tables, a perplexed frown on their brows. Are they looking for something? What is it?

That's right, they are looking for the glasses, cups and similar items that we have left in the locker rooms, on the porch, even in the yard—every place but where they belong, the counter, obviously.

Let's all place Junior G-Men and locate these strays. We have a responsibility toward keeping the college clean and a neat place in which to live and study. We can help by taking better aim with those cigarette butts, by placing used towels in the receptacle provided, and by holding on to that scrap of paper until we reach one of the trash cans.

The politeness of the boys in this school is killing! A girl with her arms full of books dropped one in the upstairs hall and papers flew all over the place. There were at least two dozen "men" standing in the hall and all ignored her completely. Not one made any attempt to help her until all but the last paper was retrieved! Where did we guys pick up our manners? In the foxholes we dug overseas???

Navy Offers College Training Program

The United States navy, through its navy college training program, is offering students a four year college education at navy expense; summer training cruises from six to eight weeks, $660 yearly living allowances; and NROTC graduates commissioned as ensigns in the U. S. Navy or second lieutenant in the U. S. marine corps.

Dec. 13 is the date set by the Navy for a nationwide competitive examination to select several thousand young men for its new college training program, and Nov. 10 is that not-too-far-distant deadline when all applications must be in the hands of the examining board.

Any unmarried male citizen of the United States between the ages of 17 and 21, who meets the prescribed requirements, is eligible to apply for the examination.

Application forms and detailed information may be obtained from Mr. Robert Jesness, vocational counselor.

Suggestions Invited As Social Activity Committee Gets Into Gear

This is our chance to tell Miss E. Muller, director of social affairs in just what type of social activities we are interested. Drop ideas in the suggestion box in the student lounge or see Miss Muller in her office—third floor Simonds House.

In a statement to the SCRIBE, Miss Muller said that the Social Activities Committee will offer a variety of dances, recreations, and parties which will benefit the majority of students. Highlights of the year will include two formal dances, the Christmas Ball and the Commencement Dance, which are to feature well-known bands. Formal dress for the men will be optional. With student co-operation, car-pools will be formed for those who do not have their own transportation.

Another big dance is scheduled for around Thanksgiving and will be strictly informal. The fellows can sport those plaid shirts, and the girls too, if they have 'em.

Plans are still in the making for a Splash party, an evening ice-skating affair, complete with floodlights and music, and bowling and roller-skating parties. It is hoped that the University will be able to charter busses to follow the baseball team to one of the out-of-town games.

Since the college has become so large that "all-college" activities must be restricted in both type and number, students interested in sponsoring group activities such as a "platter-chatter" evening for jazz fans, hay rides, or skiing parties, are urged to turn their suggestions in to Miss Muller.

Halsey's Speech Gets National Circulation

National circulation has been given to "Education for Freedom," the address by President James H. Halsey of the University of Bridgeport, delivered at the opening student convocation in Klein Memorial, Sept. 29, with its printing in full in the Oct. 15 issue of "Vital Speeches of the Day." Achieve an adult maturity, to complete one's education, was President Halsey's theme which he brought out in his discussion of intellectual, emotional, and ethical maturity.

Taft, Stassen, and Truman also authored speeches in the Oct. 15 issue of Vital Speeches.

Full And Part-Time Jobs Open, Says Jesness, Counsellor

A number of rather desirable jobs are remaining unfilled for want of suitable applicants, says R. F. Jesness, vocational counsellor. Included are both part-time and full-time positions. Among the latter are:

A combination stenographer and bookkeeper for an accounting firm. Girl desired.

Man for automotive sales work and service follow-up. Office work.

Salesman for a business machines firm.

Some choice part-time opportunities are:

A fee or risk inspector for a firm which investigates applicants for insurance.

A typist and billing clerk for a prescription pharmacy.

Man for typing and clerical work at a community center.

Chauffeur for school children. Hours: 3 to 5 p.m.

Houseman or butler for private family. Hours: 6 to 9 p.m. Room and board included.

Sales clerk in drug store (Stratford). Hours: 6 to 10 p.m.

Man to pack glass and china in a department store.

Girl to do housework and baby-sit (Milford, near Stratford).

Regular baby-sitter to work one evening a week (usually on a weekend).

Man to deliver magazines to distributors in the downtown area.

Boy for fountain and light delivery work in a pharmacy.

In addition to the above, there are a variety of sales jobs available. The local department stores are accepting applications for part-time help during the Christmas rush, and some firms are seeking part-time door-to-door sales people.

Sherman

$175 a month if single, or more than $200 if married. This wage ceiling has been set by Congress.

"The third point about which veteran students are hazy," Mr. Sherman said, "concerns 'entitlement time.' Under the G.I. Bill of Rights, 12 or more semester hours are considered full time, 9 to 11 semester hours—¾ time, 6 to 8 semester hours—½ time, and 5 or less semester hours—¼ time. For example, a part time student taking four semester hours during the 8-month school year will have ¼ of 8, or 2 months entitlement time charged against him. If the bill allows him one full year of education, he can therefore determine that he has used only two months of that allowed education, and is entitled to ten months more. The veteran can in this way keep his own score of education allowance used and due.

Evening Music Class Works With Symphony

"I'm getting a big kick out of it and they seem to be too," said Mr. E. F. Byerly, director of music, in speaking of his music appreciation class, held Tuesday nights at Loyola.

Heterogeneous was the word he used to describe its members. Meeting Tuesdays makes it possible for the class to follow Wednesdays with a principal project: attending the Connecticut Symphony concerts at the Klein.

The night before a concert the group listens to records of the selections to be presented the following night and to interpretations of them by Mr. Byerly. Thus the concert becomes more meaningful, he says. Instituted as a "listening" course, it is non-credit and requires no exams. Before the end of the term Mr. Byerly hopes to cover the different musical interests displayed by the various members of the class, including opera, keys and harmonics, appreciation of symphony, instruments, and writing music.

Short Story. Complete On This Page. Reading Time — 93 Seconds

English Theme As Submitted

With the beginning of the new school year we hear the perpetual hue and cry from the high school graduates, "Why should I take English Comp., I can read and write!"

Can you now? If so—please check the following theme for literary debauchery; title: White to Read.

"There are three types of reading: reading for pleasure, reading for information and reading for the teacher. 17 words in reading for pleasure you should find something that has to do with subjects in which you are interested. Fiction is also good for pleasure reading. 43 words.

When you come across a problem the thing to do is to read from a reliable source of information. (62.)

The reading for the teacher is something else again. The material sometimes has something else again. The material sometimes has something to do with the subject. Then it is dry and hard to read. If, however, it is interesting the reading surely has little to do with the subject. This, then, is the type of reading that should not be done. 116.

In pleasure reading there is no set law that you should go by. If you like to read every word, why shouldn't you? It's your time. If you prefer to scan paragraphs and just get the bare essentials, that also is up to you. 160.

But, when it comes to reading for information there are certain factors that help you to get the most out of a printed page. One way is to scan a paragraph for essential facts put them down and then rescan it. 201.

There seems to be only one thing to do for reading for a teacher that is to agree with the authors' opinions and ideals whether they are your own or not. 232.

'Campus Thunder' Scheduled Dec. 11

"Campus Thunder," first yearly musical show with both book and score written by students, is to be given at the Klein Memorial on Dec. 11, Mr. Albert A. Dickason, director of campus productions, has announced.

Quoting President Halsey, Mr. Dickason said he planned to "crawl before walking," but he mentioned the possibility of taking the show on the road in a small local circuit. This first year the show will not be entirely original; it will be formed according to a general outline Mr. Dickason has used in other variety shows. However, there is great opportunity for students to do some additional writing.

The show is divided into two acts of three scenes each with a genie acting as a connecting link between the scenes—sort of a magic carpet on which the audience is whisked from the Gay Nineties, to Husking Bees and to nineteenth century England.

Students who have any dramatic, musical, or dancing ability should contact Mr. Dickason.

'Bob Small' Amazes, And Not With Mirrors

Bronislaw Smulowicz, one of the foreign students studying here at the University of Bridgeport, in September started taking Math 101. After a short time he requested a comprehensive examination covering Math 101-102, which he passed with a grade of "A." He next enrolled in Math 201-202, which is calculus, attended it for a few days, and decided that again he had learned enough. He is reported to have passed the comprehensive examination in calculus with a grade of "A."

The trick of this is that in Europe the educational system has what is referred to as the "Gymnasium," a high school the student attends for six years. During this time the European student studies the equivalent of what our second year college man studies.

"More power to you, Bronislaw Smulowicz," says the Fremont House boys who call him "Bob Small."

Ensemble Is Formed

An instrumental ensemble, consisting of approximately ten people, has been formed from the college orchestra. Members of this ensemble, which will play at receptions, banquets, and other similar functions, include June Pettigrew, Ed Segal, Sally Morrison, Nancy Andrews, Ray Babinsky, Patience Wilson, Dan Meisenheimer, Elaine Ruskin, and A. Klauson.

In addition, the chorus and orchestra also are planning a Christmas assembly consisting of a choir, soloists, a brass choir, formed from brass instruments, and appropriate music.

We'll pay you $1, $2, $3 . . . as much as $15 for stuff we accept—and print. Think of it. You can retire. (As early as 9 P. M. if you like.) You don't have to mention Pepsi-Cola but that always

The very next day you may receive a de-luxe radio-phonograph combination and a nine-room prefabricated house. It won't be from us. We'll just send you money if we feel like it. Easy Money, too.

Mohair Moron, the upholsterer's son, was found huddled up and shivering in his refrigerator one day. He explained by saying, "I was th-thirsty for a P-pepsi-C-cola and was t-told it should be d-drunk when cold. Now I can drink it. I'm c-c-cold!"

You don't have to be a moron to write these . . . but it helps. $2 for each accepted we'll pay you, and not a penny more.

James Bender To Speak At U.B. Monday, Nov. 3

Human relations as they affect our personal, social and business affairs are of paramount concern to all of us. But few of us take the time or trouble to analyze what constitutes good human relations. Dr. James F. Bender, noted author and educator who will speak at the University, Monday, Nov. 3, at 7:30 p.m., is a man who has made this important branch of social study his life work.

When he founded the National Institute for Human Relations in New York in 1943, he originated an organization designed to answer a long-felt need among business corporations for competent advice on personal problems and among individuals for consultation on personal problems. Dr. Bender, in his capacity as Director, supervises the National Institute for Human Relations' various counseling services: vocational and educational guidance, general psychological counseling, psychological testing on patients sent in by leading psychiatrists, sales training and personal problems, marriage relations counseling, speech disorders, etc.

A prolific writer, Dr. Bender has authored more than 250 articles for leading popular publications—he is a regular contributor to the New York Times Magazine—and has been interviewed on the radio many times. He is the author of the National Broadcasting Company's Handbook of Pronunciation. He has written more than two dozen scholarly articles, nine of them for the Encyclopedia of Education.

'Campus Thunder' Going On Road? Could Be!

Auditions for "Campus Thunder," the all college musical, were held on Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 20 and 21, in the Little Theatre.

The Arabian Nights on the campus is the theme of the production, and its six major scenes are woven together by the Arabian Night Genii and his magic lamp. The opening scene is a gay nineties number, "On the Mall"; next, a satire, "If Men Gave Showers as Women Do"; a fantasy, "Hall of Dreams"; an old fashioned "Huskin Bee"; "Christmas Prelude," in keeping with the holiday season; and the finale, "Invitation to the Waltz."

Judy Dembo is in charge of choreography, with Mr. Albert Dickason directing the entire production.

"Campus Thunder," will be presented in the Klein Memorial Auditorium on Thursday, Dec. 11.

Whither Cupid? Dr. Bender speaks here Nov. 3 on "Love and Marriage."

Four Represent UB At Forum

Jacob Gold, Renee Knoll, Kenneth Maloney and Julian Short represented the University of Bridgeport at the 16th annual New York Herald-Tribune Forum, Oct. 20th-21st at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York. Along with them were student delegates from colleges throughout the East.

"Modern Man; Slave or Sovereign," was the general theme and U. S. Problems of Liberty was studied at the first session. John G. Winant, former ambassador to Britain, warned us that present record profits combined with the high cost of the necessities of life are endangering private enterprise and the peace of the world.

Speakers included Carl Sandburg; John W. Snyder, secretary of the treasury; Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Meatless Tuesday Is With Us As Belts Tighten

Once again the grim war time habit of Meatless Tuesday has descended upon the kitchens of America, the University of Bridgeport included. At the two dorms serving meals to our out-of-town students the plea from President Truman will be strictly upheld.

As was expected, this new menu plan has met with a variety of opinion. Talking to the students brought a very broad consensus of the reaction taken by the dormitory students. One fellow from Seaside Hall summed it up this way: "I doubt if one or two days a week without meat will hurt anybody. It means helping somebody who hasn't had it for one or two months, if not longer."

The outlook seemed very good in the girls dormitories. Many of the girls greeted it with a sigh of relief after looking at the scales following a month of school.

Yes, the opinions were very varied. As a whole the students accepted it with a grin. But for the dieticians it was a different story. It is their job to balance the menu so that each student gets the same nutritional value from his weekly meals without the Tuesday meat quota. But it seems that the school has been orientated to the new idea, and it is continuing to run along very smooth.
